24.	Summary of the Event	The Department of Computer Applications(BCA), organized a No-Code Web Development event under Coding Club. The event aimed at introducing undergraduate students to website creation without traditional programming. Participants explored tools like Wix, Figma, Framers to design and publish functional web pages. The event focussed on UX/UI, workflow automation and rapid prototyping techniques. Participants collaborated in team size of 2 to build mini-projects showcasing creativity and practical application. The event concluded with participants making a presentation of their work and feedback from judges. Participants unanimously shared a positive feedback and were eager to participate in similar such events in the upcoming semesters.
