23.	Summary of the Event (Around 100 words)	Old age homes are increasing in India and all over the world because the children of those parents are abandoning them. The reason could be that children don't want to care for their parents as they will be busy with their lives, which is wrong. Because our parents have made enough sacrifices while bringing up us to the position we are today. As they grow old, they need our help that is the wish they have to be with their children. Everybody wants privacy in their life so they prefer nuclear families and they end up leaving their parents. Today's generation don't need any emotional bonding attachment. The reason could be that after marriage couple wants to lead independent life without much responsibility that also will lead for the act of sending parents to old age homes. But many are still ready to take care of their parents even today also which should be appreciated. Some children go abroad and parents who can live on their own, since they have the choices in search of connections and people, they move to old age homes. In this situation at least children can make sure the old age home is safe and has all kind of facilities. To overcome this problem, children who are good at academics should not only have concern about studies or career but they need to spend time to be with their parents. They also have to learn moral values, ethics, and the value of parents. Then we can see old age homes vanishing or decreasing for that matter.
