23.	Summary of the Event	BBA students recently participated in a hands-on computer lab session for their Business Analytics course. This session focused on equipping them with the practical skills needed to analyze data. Students delved into specific software or tools, such as Excel or specialized analytics programs, learning how to manipulate, clean, and potentially visualize data. This practical experience provided a valuable complement to the theoretical concepts covered in class. The instructor guided students through exercises, allowing them to apply their newfound knowledge to real-world scenarios. This interactive session empowered BBA students to become more confident in their ability to handle and interpret data, a crucial skill for future business success.
