2. Curriculum framework: 5+3+3+4
3. Regulatory structure and accreditation: The Committee noted that the current higher education system has multiple regulators with overlapping mandates. This reduces the autonomy of higher educational institutions and creates an environment of dependency and centralised decision making. Technical Seminar on “Blockchain Technology”

The Seminar on “Blockchain Technology” was organized for 2Sem MCA and 4Sem MCA students on 10th April 2019. Dr. Sagaya Aurelia, professor - Christ University Bangalore had delivered the session.

The seminar was conducted on April. 10, 2019 by dept. of MCA(BU) of Dayananda Sagar Institution. Dr. Sagaya Aurelia, professor at Christ University Bangalore. She has teaching experience both in India and overseas universities. She has published more than 20 papers in international journals, 20 papers in international conferences and 10 in national conferences. She is also a member of many professional bodies such as Internet society, South Asia Institute of Science and Engineering (SAISE), International Association of Engineers, International Economics Development Research Center and International Association of Computer Science and Information Technology.

Dr. Sagaya Aurelia began her seminar by providing basic information and technology involved in BLOCK CHAIN. She briefed about the history and founder of blockchain. Later explain the concept through pictorial representation, work process involved in block chain.

Blockchain, the technology behind the Bitcoin crypto-currency system, is considered to be both alluring and critical for ensuring enhanced security and (in some implementations, non-traceable) privacy for diverse applications in many other domains - including in the Internet of Things (IoT) eco-system. Intensive research is currently being conducted in both academia and industry applying the Blockchain technology in multifarious applications. Proof-of-Work (PoW), a cryptographic puzzle, plays a vital rôle in ensuring BC security by maintaining a digital ledger of transactions, which is considered to be incorruptible.

Technology Fundamentals of Blockchain

A Blockchain comprises of two different components, as follows:

1. Transaction:

A transaction, in a Blockchain, represents the action triggered by the participant.

2. Block:

A block, in a Blockchain, is a collection of data recording the transaction and other associated details such as the correct sequence, timestamp of creation, etc.

The Blockchain can either be public or private, depending on the scope of its use. However, the data in the blocks are encrypted by a private key and hence cannot be interpreted by everyone.

Another major advantage of the Blockchain technology is that it is decentralized. It is decentralized in the sense that:

- There is no single device that stores the data (transactions and associated blocks), rather they are distributed among the participants throughout the network supporting the Blockchain.

- The transactions are not subject to the approval of any single authority or have to abide by a set of specific rules, thus involving substantial trust as to reach a consensus.

- The overall security of a Blockchain ecosystem is another advantage. The system only allows new blocks to be appended. Since the previous blocks are public and distributed, they cannot be altered or revised.

Blockchain, the technology behind cryptocurrency brought forth a new revolution by providing a mechanism for Peer-to-Peer (P2P) transactions without the need for any intermediary body such as the existing commercial banks. BC validates all the transactions and preserves a permanent record of them while making sure that any identification related information of the users are kept incognito. Blockchain thus appears to be the ideal "Trust Machine" paradigm. In fact, Bitcoin is just an exemplary use of the Blockchain.

In the cloud environment, the history of the creation of any cloud data object and its subsequent operations performed thereupon are recorded by the data structure mechanism of 'Data Provenance', which is a type of cloud metadata. Thus this is very important to provide the utmost security to the data provenance for ensuring its data privacy, forensics, and accountability. Liang et al. put forward a Blockchain based trusted cloud data provenance architecture,

'ProvChain', which is fully decentralized. Such adoption of the Blockchain in a cloud environment can provide strong protection against records being altered thus enabling enhanced transparency as well as additional data accountability. This also increases the availability, trustworthiness, privacy and ultimately the value of the provenance data itself. In an IoT ecosystem, most of the communication is in the form of Machine-to-Machine (M2M) interactions.

The seminar was knowledge building and highly informative about BLOCK CHAIN as it brought knowledge about The application of the Blockchain concept and technology has grown beyond its use for Bitcoin generation and transactions. The properties of its security, privacy, traceability, inherent data provenance and time-stamping has seen its adoption beyond its initial application areas. The Blockchain has been especially identified to be suitable in developing nations where ensuring the trust is of major concern. Thus the invention of the Blockchain can be seen to be a vital and much needed additional component of the Internet that was lacking in security and trust before. BC technology still has not reached its maturity with a prediction of five years as novel applications continue to be implemented globally. The speaker used to graphical and pictorial representation to explain a concept which made easier to analyze the concept and make the environment more engrossing.

Workshop Report on the topic "Python Programming"

Event Name: Two days Workshop
Topic Name: Python Programming

Resource Person: Mr. Dilip & Team
Date : 3rd & 4th June 2019

The Department of MCA(BU) organized two days workshop for II and IV Semester MCA students on 3rd & 4th June 2019.

Python is a general-purpose programming language which is more popular for data science. Companies worldwide are using Python to harvest insights from their data and get a competitive edge. The objective of this workshop is to cover the concepts of Python Programming and its application with data science and IoT.

Over time, the huge community around this open source language has created quite a few tools to efficiently work with Python. A number of tools have been built specifically for data science. As a result, analyzing data with Python has never been easier. Participants will learn about powerful ways to store and manipulate data as well as data science tools.

The topics raised in this seminar are discussed as

- Explore Python language fundamentals, including basic syntax, variables, and types.
- Create and manipulate regular Python lists
- Use functions and import packages

- Build Numpy arrays, and perform interesting calculations
- Environment setup and basic syntax, python lists, functions and packages
- Create and customize plots on real data Python application in IoT
- Python programming for data science
- Hands-on session.

Around 45 students of II and IV semester MCA Students actively participated in this event. The workshop was conducted at Seminar Hall and Lab, department of MCA (BU) block. It started at 9:30 AM. During the session faculties and students interacted with resource person and cleared all the queries raised.

The active participation of students brought the depth knowledge of Python.

Outcomes of the workshop:

- Students learnt and comprehend the basics of python programming.
- Students Understood about files and its applications.
- Students learnt python applications in IoT.

Center for Innovation & Leadership– Pre Placement Training

The CIL session was conducted for 2, 4 & 6 Semester MCA students on 16th of May 2019 & 18th May 2019 under the guidance of Prof. Akshay – Trainer-CIL.

MCA 2, 4 & 6 semester Sstudents attended the seminar on Pre Placement training delivered by Prof. Akshay. Placement training plays a major role in shaping up the career goals of students. It is the dream of every student to get placed in a top organization. Keeping this key aspect into consideration, it is realized that training is important for students to enhance their skills and achieve good placement in various Industries.

At present, the competition for employment is increasing every day and placement has become a challenging task. Training of students and equipping them with life skills has become an important responsibility of the institution. Along with technical expertise, development of a holistic personality is also necessary. To meet out these requirements, a fully fledged training cell is operating in our college to enhance the capabilities of graduates as per the industry standards.

The prime objective of the CIL focused on

- To look for 100% employment for all students.
- To recognize the core competencies of the students.
- To train the students to meet the expectations of the industry through our Career Development Programme.
- To build confidence in students and develop right attitude in them and to enhance their communication skills.

A REPORT PREPARED BY: MR. SRIYANK LEVI

DATE: 24/06/2019

Out bound programme was conducted with initiative by IQAC and MBA BU programme with sports cell for the DSCASC sports students and other students.

The workshop on health and hygiene for students on 17th JUNE 2019. Nearly 150 students had participated and took the benefit of the programme.

The workshop included a very inspiring lecture by DR. GARGI.S.MURTHY.MDS, reader and head of the department of paedodontics & amp; preventive dentistry at DSI, Bangalore.

It was very informative as the students were made aware about the importance of washing hands regularly in order to keep diseases at bay and they were also taught the 6 basic steps of washing hands properly. The students were also informed about the proper techniques of oral care and maintaining hygiene of sensory organs.

This was followed by an interactive session of the doctors with our students. The students were quite intrigued and enthusiastic about the various aspects of basic health and hygiene that they got to learn about in the workshop.

Then the resource person introduced Eatwell Guide divides the foods and drinks we consume into 5 main groups:

- fruit and vegetables
- potatoes, bread, rice, pasta and other starchy carbohydrates
- beans, pulses, fish, eggs, meat and other proteins
- dairy and alternatives
- oils and spreads

You can use this guide to help you make healthier choices when:

- planning what to eat
- cooking or preparing a meal at home
- food shopping
- eating out or on the go

Most of the meals we eat are a combination of food groups. When planning meals, work out the main ingredients and think about how these fit within the 5 main food groups.

Technical Seminar on “Blockchain Technology”

The Seminar on “Blockchain Technology” was organized for 2Sem MCA and 4Sem MCA students on 10th April 2019. Dr. Sagaya Aurelia, professor - Christ University Bangalore had delivered the session.

The seminar was conducted on April. 10, 2019 by dept. of MCA(BU) of Dayananda Sagar Institution. Dr. Sagaya Aurelia, professor at Christ University Bangalore. She has teaching experience both in India and overseas universities. She has published more than 20 papers in international journals, 20 papers in international conferences and 10 in national conferences. She is also a member of many professional bodies such as Internet society, South Asia Institute of Science and Engineering (SAISE), International Association of Engineers, International Economics Development Research Center and International Association of Computer Science and Information Technology.

Dr. Sagaya Aurelia began her seminar by providing basic information and technology involved in BLOCK CHAIN. She briefed about the history and founder of blockchain. Later explain the concept through pictorial representation, work process involved in block chain.

Blockchain, the technology behind the Bitcoin crypto-currency system, is considered to be both alluring and critical for ensuring enhanced security and (in some implementations, non-traceable) privacy for diverse applications in many other domains - including in the Internet of Things (IoT) eco-system. Intensive research is currently being conducted in both academia and industry applying the Blockchain technology in multifarious applications. Proof-of-Work (PoW), a cryptographic puzzle, plays a vital rôle in ensuring BC security by maintaining a digital ledger of transactions, which is considered to be incorruptible.

Technology Fundamentals of Blockchain

A Blockchain comprises of two different components, as follows:

1. Transaction:

A transaction, in a Blockchain, represents the action triggered by the participant.

2. Block:

A block, in a Blockchain, is a collection of data recording the transaction and other associated details such as the correct sequence, timestamp of creation, etc.

The Blockchain can either be public or private, depending on the scope of its use. However, the data in the blocks are encrypted by a private key and hence cannot be interpreted by everyone.

Another major advantage of the Blockchain technology is that it is decentralized. It is decentralized in the sense that:

- There is no single device that stores the data (transactions and associated blocks), rather they are distributed among the participants throughout the network supporting the Blockchain.

- The transactions are not subject to the approval of any single authority or have to abide by a set of specific rules, thus involving substantial trust as to reach a consensus.

- The overall security of a Blockchain ecosystem is another advantage. The system only allows new blocks to be appended. Since the previous blocks are public and distributed, they cannot be altered or revised.

Blockchain, the technology behind cryptocurrency brought forth a new revolution by providing a mechanism for Peer-to-Peer (P2P) transactions without the need for any intermediary body such as the existing commercial banks. BC validates all the transactions and preserves a permanent record of them while making sure that any identification related information of the users are kept incognito. Blockchain thus appears to be the ideal "Trust Machine" paradigm. In fact, Bitcoin is just an exemplary use of the Blockchain.

In the cloud environment, the history of the creation of any cloud data object and its subsequent operations performed thereupon are recorded by the data structure mechanism of 'Data Provenance', which is a type of cloud metadata. Thus this is very important to provide the utmost security to the data provenance for ensuring its data privacy, forensics, and accountability. Liang et al. put forward a Blockchain based trusted cloud data provenance architecture,

'ProvChain', which is fully decentralized. Such adoption of the Blockchain in a cloud environment can provide strong protection against records being altered thus enabling enhanced transparency as well as additional data accountability. This also increases the availability, trustworthiness, privacy and ultimately the value of the provenance data itself. In an IoT ecosystem, most of the communication is in the form of Machine-to-Machine (M2M) interactions.

The seminar was knowledge building and highly informative about BLOCK CHAIN as it brought knowledge about The application of the Blockchain concept and technology has grown beyond its use for Bitcoin generation and transactions. The properties of its security, privacy, traceability, inherent data provenance and time-stamping has seen its adoption beyond its initial application areas. The Blockchain has been especially identified to be suitable in developing nations where ensuring the trust is of major concern. Thus the invention of the Blockchain can be seen to be a vital and much needed additional component of the Internet that was lacking in security and trust before. BC technology still has not reached its maturity with a prediction of five years as novel applications continue to be implemented globally. The speaker used to graphical and pictorial representation to explain a concept which made easier to analyze the concept and make the environment more engrossing.

Dayananda Sagar College of Management Studies had arranged a work shop titled "Yoga for the Styled Sedentary Life / Desk Jockeys" for faculty and Students through yoga and meditation cell. This program was aimed towards improving health of faculty and students who constantly sit in front of the computer/ TV / Smart Phones for a longer duration. This workshop was for about one and a half hours, through which four to five different yoga mudras and techniques were taught. Dr. Sudheendra demonstrated the postures and also briefly explained as to what would be the effect towards performing the said postures. It was little fun filled too where the students participated with utmost care and interest. Many students requested the yoga guru to teach more yoga mudras and asanas which would enhance their health thereby overcoming today's life style diseases.

The session started with the yoga guru demonstrating various exercises and also asking the participants to perform the yoga postures for reducing the impact of being constantly seated at one place. He also advised that one should walk once in 20 mts for good blood circulation in our body.
